ACC JOURNAL

SCIENCE OF ECONOMICS • ISSUE B

The ACC JOURNAL is an international scientific journal which came into existence in 2009. It is published by the Technical University of Liberec. Four universities joined in the Academic Coordination Centre of Euroregion Nisa (ACC) participate in its production. There are usually three issues per year.

The ACC JOURNAL is a periodical publishing original reviewed scientific papers, scientific studies, papers presented at conferences and summaries of research projects' findings. The first issue contains contributions focused on science and technology, the second one is focused on economics and the third one on social science.

Contributions are published in English only.
