Dear esteemed participants of the ACC Forum workshop on the current and immensely important topic of "AI in Practice - Its Contribution to the Development of the Euroregion Nisa"!

Allow me to warmly welcome you to Liberec on behalf of the management of the Technical University of Liberec. It is a great honor for us to host such a significant event that focuses on the key area of artificial intelligence and its practical application for the development of our common region.

The cooperation between universities within the Euroregion Nisa has a long-standing and strong tradition at our university. We consider it extremely valuable and beneficial for all participants.
